Matthew Ohrnstein Launches Symphony Advisors

Matthew Ohrnstein, former CEO of Caliber Collision Centers announced the formation of Symphony Advisors, LLC, an Irvine, California-based consulting firm. The company will focus on strategic, operational and financial advisory services to the aftermarket parts and services supply chain and automobile physical damage claims organizations.

“With the ever increasing challenges and complexity of operating in the automotive aftermarket and physical damage claims industry, there is a need for experienced professionals to provide a wide range of advisory services to participants in the industry,” said Matthew Ohrnstein, Managing Director. “I believe that by working with a select clientele and collaborating with best-in-class experts, our clients will achieve results that create value for their customers and shareholders.”

Ohrnstein was CEO of Caliber Collision Centers from its founding in 1997 through 2004. Prior to Caliber, Mr. Ohrnstein held chief executive and chief financial officer positions with information and software firms focused on the automobile insurance industry. Mr. Ohrnstein holds an undergraduate degree in Accounting from Pennsylvania State University and an MBA from Pepperdine University. He is a Certified Public Accountant.
